

PRESS RELEASE: Two Attorneys in Kaufman Dolowich's New Jersey office named 2014 Super Lawyers Rising Stars

(March 19, 2014) — Christopher Nucifora co-managing partner of Kaufman Dolowich & Voluck's New Jersey office, and Edward Patrick Abbott associate, have both been named 2014 Rising Stars by Super Lawyers. This is their third and second consecutive years receiving this distinction, respectively.

Christopher Nucifora is an accomplished commercial litigator who has a broad range of experience handling complex matters. His experience includes litigating and resolving business and corporate conflicts, private and public construction disputes, fidelity and suretyship claims, and general liability matters. Additionally, Mr. Nucifora has developed an expertise in the complex and emerging field of information and privacy security, and is an accomplished author and speaker on the issues. His diversified clientele includes closely held and publicly traded multi-national corporations, contractors, licensed professionals and technology companies. A graduate of Seton Hall University School of Law, Mr. Nucifora is highly regarded in all aspects of litigation from discovery through trial as well as mediation and arbitration.

Edward Patrick Abbott concentrates his practice in complex commercial litigation, professional liability, construction litigation, cyber liability and labor and employment law. Mr. Abbott has handled land use and commercial litigation matters, and previously served as the law clerk for the Honorable Eugene D. Serpente, Assignment Judge of the Superior Court, Ocean County, New Jersey. While attending Rutgers University School of Law, Camden, Mr. Abbott was a member of the Rutgers Journal of Law and Religion, ultimately serving as Lead Notes Editor.

Super Lawyers, a Thomson Reuters business, is a rating service of outstanding lawyers from more than 70 practice areas who have attained a high degree of peer recognition and professional achievement. The annual selections are made using a rigorous multi-phased process that includes a statewide survey of lawyers, an independent research evaluation of candidates, and peer reviews by practice area. Rising Stars are selected from among outstanding attorneys younger than 40.

The first Super Lawyers list was published in 1991; by 2009, the rating service had expanded nationwide. In February 2010, Super Lawyers was acquired by Thomson Reuters, the world's leading source of intelligent information for business and professionals.
