

Hotlines

Access to risk management advice is one of the best ways to avoid costly insurance claims and lawsuits. Insurers retain our firm's attorneys to staff risk management hotlines and provide information and advice to individual and organization policyholders. Kaufman Dolowich lawyers have decades of collective experience handling complex issues and disputes. They also have a solid understanding of the diverse industries and professions within which our clients' policyholders operate. Thus, when a policyholder contacts a risk management hotline they receive information from qualified insurance defense attorneys who are intimately familiar with the particular issues and challenges they face.

Our firm's risk management hotline provides policyholders with professional advice on a broad range of insurance claims matters, from addressing pre-claim issues, to responding to liability claims and lawsuits, to developing and implementing organizational best practices. We advise policyholders across a wide array of insurance lines, including professional liability/errors and omissions, employment practices liability, directors and officers (D&O) liability and general liability. Regardless of whether the matter is routine or complex, our objective is help our clients' policyholders take the right steps to mitigate risk and reduce exposure to liability.
