Employment Practices Liability Landmines

"Today's businesses face an increasing number of employment practices liability insurance landmines, more than can be counted, says Philip Voluck, managing partner at Kaufman Dolowich LLP, in Pennsylvania. Voluck says one of the biggest EPLI exposures may be the overly-intrusive employer. Here's what Voluck has to say about the growing number of potential employment claims, the high cost to litigate, and why he thinks front-line managers have to operate as mini-HR specialists."
