

History

In 1986, Arthur Kaufman left a large law firm in Manhattan to join three colleagues and start a boutique labor and employment law firm on Long Island. His intention was to improve the quality of life for his family and to create something he could be proud of. Over the course of 35+ years, Kaufman Dolowich has grown from a four-person labor and employment law boutique into a nationwide law firm with marquee private and insurance clients in the United States, Bermuda and United Kingdom.

Today, the firm is known for numerous practices including labor & employment, commercial litigation, directors and officers litigation, professional liability, insurance coverage & litigation, construction, homeowner associations, financial services, real estate, cyber security, maritime, shared economy and hospitality. Kaufman Dolowich has strategically grown its practice; following clients to emerging marketplaces across the country. Our attorneys apply their diverse backgrounds as legal practitioners and litigators in all areas of law, to provide clients the most innovative and cost-effective solutions.

With over 220 attorneys and counting, Kaufman Dolowich boasts a roster of versatile lawyers that ensure each client matter receives the finest of the firm's collective competencies and capabilities.