

Judge Grants Permanent Injunction in Case Against Attorney General, Northern Central Record, ft. Louie Castoria

Louie Castoria, partner in the San Francisco office of Kaufman Dolowich & Voluck, was mentioned in a Northern California Record article by Michelle de Leon on Dec. 29, 2016.

A federal judge approved the permanent injunction request of the Thomas Moore Law Center against California Attorney General Kamala Harris, putting an end to the official's campaign to obtain the donor list of the organization.

District Judge Manuel Real of the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California enjoined the attorney general from ordering the nonprofit legal-advocacy organization to provide her with the list of donors. Prior to this ruling, Harris sought to make this requirement a precondition before the TMLC can solicit donations from the state. A team lead by Kaufman Dolowich and Voluck San Francisco partner Louie Castoria represented the organization. The group also included associate attorney Marion Cruz and paralegal James Jordan.
