

Extreme Team Building, HR Executive Online, ft. Keith Gutstein

With more organizations sponsoring teams to participate in extreme obstacle challenges that test participants' mental and physical toughness, experts say HR leaders should be prepared for the likelihood of accommodating injured workers. But training for the events can help forge bonds across organizational boundaries as well.