

Yale University Presidential Inauguration

On Sunday, October 13, 2013, Peter Salovey will be inaugurated as the twenty-third president of Yale University. Ivan Dolowich, co-managing partner of Kaufman Dolowich & Voluck, will have the honor of standing in on the ceremony on behalf of the chancellor of Washington University.

In keeping with President Salovey's commitment to make Yale even more unified, accessible, excellent, and innovative, the ceremony and the celebrations throughout the week will build and expand upon tradition and will include many events open to students, faculty, staff, alumni, our neighbors in the New Haven community, and friends across the world.
